

AIA Central Valley
A Chapter of The American Institute of Architects

Present:

Gradually Going Green: Working with LEED, v3

sponsored by RWM architecture & interiors

A series of talks for project team members designed to explore, understand and incorporate into projects the sustainability requirements of LEED v.3.

The series will help you:

- Explore and understand construction sustainability issues in an organized manner.
- To learn how to incorporate sustainability into the project process (contract, project design, project delivery.)
- To learn how and when to coordinate with members of the team.
- To help prepare for the LEED specialty exams.

The seminars review LEED for Interior Design + Construction and LEED for Building Design + Construction, and are intended for all members of the project team, including CM's and contractors. The talks do not include a review of the process for certifying a project, since this is clearly explained in the USGB website and most project team members are not involved in that effort.

The series will begin with LEED v3 Sustainable Sites (SS) prerequisites and credits. Additional seminars covering the WE, EA, MR and IEQ credits will be scheduled for later in the year.

The Gradually Going Green series will be presented by Gloria Rasmussen, AIA, CSI, CCS, LEED AP, BD+C.

Place: AIA Central Valley Gallery, 1400 S Street, Suite 100

Time: All sessions will run from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
Soda and water provided.
