MATERIAL REBORN

Reclaimed antique wood is unrivaled in terms of its density, clarity and ageless beauty and is unparalleled in its architectural quality and character. The Makers Lab is proud to offer beautiful “old-world wood” with rustic textures, traditional elegance and architectural strength and durability.

With many of the old historical “character marks” still visible, our reclaimed timbers bring warmth, charm and historical significance to any commercial or residential new build or remodeling project.

In addition to preserving a piece of history, old timber also offers you the ability to make an environmentally responsible choice. Interest in reclaimed building materials (specifically old-growth wood) is strong and growing, as the old beams and boards fit tongue and groove with environmental concerns and goals of the future.
